It wasn't the reward that mattered or the recognition you might harvest. It was your depth of commitment, your quality of service, the product of your devotion --these were the things that counted in life. When you gave purely, the honor came in the giving, and that was honor enough.

--Scott O'Grady, U.S. Air Force officer and aviator. Shot down during a flight mission over Bosnia 1995. Rescued by a U.S. helicopter after surviving six days on hostile ground.
